

A simple calculator in Tkinter

This is a simple Python calculation program that works with two numbers. You can perform operations such as addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division. After the first calculation, you can use the result for another calculation. The result is referred to as 'number 1,' and you can use an operator to combine it with 'number 2'

